Games are models for archetypal forms of relationships involving combinations of chance, skill and inventiveness. The appeal of the game lies in the challenge of the chase and the excitement and tension of coming close to seeing a person in hide and seek or working out strategies of checkmate.

The game of darts is a metaphor for focus and danger, which seems to lie at the centre of the dance between men and women.

The maze is a walk through symbol and is a ritualized space that reflects our search for a path of knowledge and adventure.
